

Holly Marlow

Award-winning, bestselling author & adoption inclusion advocate

From overcoming the limitations of her chronic pain, to her first career working with rocket scientists, before leaving the aerospace industry to write children's books when she adopted her second child, Holly's story serves to inspire audiences of all ages.

Holly's earliest public speaking engagements were to raise awareness of fibromyalgia and other chronic, invisible pain conditions. Now an adoptive parent and author of multiple award-winning children's books about adoption, foster care and kinship care, Holly most often speaks at library book reading and signing events, and socially impactful events, including conferences about adoption, fostering, education, inclusion and social work.

Popular motivational speaking topics:

- ❖ Helping children to understand and emotionally process the complexities of foster care, kinship care and adoption.
- ❖ Effective strategies to incorporate therapeutic life story work into everyday life.
- ❖ Strategies for successful post-adoption contact with birth and foster families.
- ❖ Attachment, anxiety and unconditional love: Holly's experiences as an adoptive parent.
- ❖ Ensuring the inclusion of care-experienced children in schools.
- ❖ Becoming a multi-award-winning, bestselling author.
